

In our preschool class, we are learning about how God created the heavens and the earth. We've been talking about how God breathed His own life into people, and that same breath is what we use to calm our bodies when we feel big emotions like anger or frustration.

It's incredible that focusing on our breathing—taking a deep breath in and slowly letting it out—can bring such a sense of calm. This practice can be a beautiful reminder that God's Spirit is with us, a constant source of peace and comfort. It's a powerful way for us to remember that He loves us and is with us always, no matter what we're feeling.

Blessings,
